LOCAL MARKETS.

Centre Market is always notably busy and interesting on Saturday. So it was this morning. The Corne proposes to keep its readers posted on prices, and does so as below. One of the incidents of the morning was a wholesale disposal of game to Secretary of State Blaine. He bought twenty woodcocks among other things. There are no very notable changes. Sugar is off a snade; coffee a slight advanice.

Mr. George H. Harries, the well-known correspondent, lectured last night at Hamline Church, his subject being "The Hamline Church, his subject being "The Indian On and Off the Warpath." Mr. Harries was at the front during the late Indian uprising, and he did some very clever newspaper work on that occasion. In his lecture he criticised the present method of educating the Indiaus, and said that it really worked to their disadvantage. This, he said, was due to the fact that after a few years at school, where an Indian was given a good school. where an Indian was given a good schooling and a trade, he was sent back to his tribe where no chance was given him to utilize the knowledge gained. Mr. Harries thought that the recent outbreak could have been avoided if the Government had taken proper action.

"The Shadow Detective" at Harris'. Over ten years ago a mysterious disap pearance occurred which created a pro found sensation. It formed one of the strangest cases that the police records of New York revealed, and was talked and written about everywhere. Almost completely forgotten, it is now revived by a play that has had a remarkable success in the sensational field. The occurrence referred to was the disappearance of a woman and her daughter. Nothing could be learned of her, until a silent, patient member of the detective force finally succeeded in tracing her whereabouts. The detective is now a frequent and honored guest at the home of the lady whom he rescued from a lunatic asylum after a series of the most thrilling adventures and many narrow escapes. ound sensation. The vivid pictures which the play gives of life among the Italian dens of New York, where the padrone's life will doubtless be of especial interest now when the Italian inhabitant of America becomes so prominent an object of public attention. These padrones brought hundreds of children from Italy and sent them through the streets as musicians or professional beggars. The part of George Thoraton, the detective, is played by Mr. Kelly in a manner that has won unstinted applause, and his company also has been generally praised. Mr. Kelly assumes numerous disguises, and shows great versatility in character defineation. The supporting cast includes Miss Joan Cravan, Miss May Buckingham, Messra. Mortimer, Albaugh and Fenton.

WEST WASHINGTON.

Whatever may be the condition of things elsewhere, the evidences of property in West Washington are plain as the way to the parish church. Buildings are going up in a number of places and the erection of many others is in contemplation, while the handsome and substan-plation, while the handsome and substantial business and residential structures recently completed to be seen on every hand show that the present boom is not a temporary spurt but is simply an incident of steady growth.

Among these visible indications of material prosperity may be mentioned the new, handsome and conveniently arranged carriage repository of Mr. James K. Probey, manufacturer of carriages, wagons and harness, on Thirty-second street.

"Rev." James Johnson is in hard, hard luck, Evidently his congregation have not responded promptly to his demands for back salary, and as a consequence James is in the lock-up, with a charge of housebreaking placed against him. Johnson broke into the house of Edward larker, who lives a little the other side of Good Hope, and thinking that Mr. Barker would not be at home he called, purioined numerous articles, was caught by the enraged residents and turned over to Officer Elliot, who placed him in a relon's cell. fliot, who placed him in a feion's cell

It has been announced that the local G, A. It, would hold an anniversary Monday next, but this has been declared "off." A meeting of the post is called, to be held in the office of Judge Armstrong on Monday night, and then proceed to Metropolitan Church, corner of Four-and a-half and C streets northwest.

Sandy Spriggs, an old colored resident of Hillsdale, died yesterday and his fu-neral will take place to-morrow afternoon. Mrs. George Johnson is recovering from ner recent illness.

SPRING SUGGESTIONS. Avoid draughts and sudden changes of emperature.

Do not discard your warm winter cloth ng too soon. It is better to suffer a little occuvenience than to take cold. Inconvenience than to take cold.

Remember that one is especially liable to contract a bad cold or chill at this season of the year.

A cough or cold contracted between the seasons is the most annoying kind, and may last through the summer.

If you feel a cough or a cold conting on, take a drink of may have whicher.

take a drink of pure whiskey at once. I will keep the blood in circulation and the best preventive against the discussion Remember that only pass whiskey bould be taken. Duffy's Pare Mall should be taken. Dany's Pure Mail Whiskey has the strongest recommenda-tions from the leading scientists and maildraggist or grocer.

Persons just convalescing from the grip should use To-Kalon Port. For sale at 614 Fourteenth street.

The Epiphany Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of this city conducted another meeting at the rooms of the Mission, 1216 Maryland avenue southwest, last night. Nearly 190 boys, between the ages of 3 and 15, were in attendance. These meetings have been held on alternate Friday nights during the winter. The work is a growing one, and the Chapter hopes, when the new mission house, corner Twelfth and C streets, is completed, to be able, with an increased capacity, to make the meetings still larger and reach a greater number of the boys of South Washington. The work appeals to the hearts of those who love children wherever they abound, and that the efforts of the Brotherhood are thoroughly appreciated is evident from the expressions of good will and praise which they receive in the neighborhood immediately affected by their work.

Modern Feudalism.

From the Attenda Constitution.

The small manufacturer is no longer an independent factor in the business of the ountry. The small dealer has been swal lowed up by the big companies. The small manufacturer is merely a foreman; the small merchant is simply an agent. It is plain that we are living under a new fendalism. No cath of allegiance fies is to it, but our helpless and dependent condition makes us yield to its power.

About Another Governor.

From the Easton Journal (Rep.).
The Governor of Texas rises in his fignity and declines to receive the sugar bounty from the Federal Government on the sugar made at the State convict sugar farm upon the lofty ground that the State is sovereign of her own affairs, and cannot be disturbed in the legitimate exercise of her prerogatives."

does the Presbyterian Church lose one of its ablest and most progressive thinkers and teachers, but the city of New York loses one of its most public-spirited and influential citizens. Dr. Grosby's efforts in behalf of the cause of rational temperame and a surjet regulation of the lunor traffic, and in support of every movement for a better administration of the public affairs of the city, have made his name as funding a surjet of the city, have made his name as funding as that of almost any conspicuous citizen who could beginnericoned.

It is not as a theologian or a preacher that he has been most widely known, but as the ardent advocate of measures for the gradient improvement and elevation of mankind, and as an active worker in every movement intended to produce a better condition of buman society. He has not only hear ready to give the aid of his voice and pen to every good cause, but he has been willing to do his fail share of the work necessary to give effect to his teaching. Such a combination of the ardent teacher and the zealous and practical worker is great moral and social force.
